Dear Mom and Dad, 2-20-73

How is everyone?

Just had my organic test; it wasn't too bad except I can't really say how I did until I get it back.

It snowed here yesterday morning then changed to rain by the afternoon. Its now wet but not too cold (sort of warm and breezy).

It took me about 5 or 6 hours to do unknowns yesterday in organic lab. I think it was worth the extra time but I was still a little rushed. Next week we start Qualitative organic analysis (which will Finish up after spring break). After that its special projects.

Brittain (psych prof) doesn't spend too much time lecturing and doesn't give us a lab to do every week. I'm glad because it gives me more time for organic (when I often-need it). Though it may seem little time is spent with psych I'm learning a good bit with less effort. Movies, demonstrations, a programmed learning text (supplemental) and drawings, and diagrams to accompany the lectures.

Back to work (my major commitment these days in which I need bits of encouragement now and then)

I'll be thinking of you.

Love,

Mike
