Dear Mom and Dad, Wed. [March 1972]

Thanks for the cookies.

It started snowing during my 1:00 o'clock class. Didn't see it (no windows in class) until I got out. The ground was all white. We didn't get any snow or rain from the big snow that hit the south.

A guy (Wayne Goodrow, a heavy weight wrestler) in my psysiological psychology class and I disected a sheep's brain this morning. It was pretty interesting.

I went to a lecture on "existentialism and anthropology" last Thurs evening. Good lecture. The lecturer was almost like a little kid with his sparkling interest in what he was putting across.

There was a track meeting Monday night and track practice will formally start next Monday. There is an indoor meet scheduled for March 9 when we're on vacation for those who can and want to make it at Widener College at 6:30pm. I'll have to find out were the college is if I want to go.

March 2 is the day we get out for Spring recess. My classes are over at 4:pm that day. I hope you can make it. If not it will be convenient for me to take the bus (I won't need to bring much home).

Love,

Mike
