1930 journal of Henry Hosie Rowland.

Friday, July 11

Hot. Clear.

Our last morning at Carlisle.

A very fine class session & chapel service.

After lunch by bus via Westminster to Washington, D.C.

What a joy to be home again & see all the family.

A hot night.

Dickinson has been a great inspiration to me. It has rejuvenated my belief in religious education, has helped me to see its place and necessity, & has put in me a determination to make it a power at Langdon.

M. Chas & I called at Art & Marges.
